Timber Flooring | Engineered

plank floors

Plank Floors is an Australian company that manufactures and supplies high quality, pre-finished, engineered timber flooring.

Working with Australia's leading architects and design firms, Plank Floors has created a colour palette that is sophisticated and in tune with local and international design trends.

Crafted using natural materials, Plank Floors takes engineered timber flooring to another level.

crafted naturally

The plank range utilises timber veneers which are plain sawn to highlight the distinctive grain patterns and growth rings which Oak is best known for around the world. The logs are cut parallel to expose natural ripples, large graphic ovals and ring shaped characters which is also referred as to the cathedral effect.

benefits of engineered timber flooring

- Greater stability on wider plank sections than solid timber planks
- Reduced effects of expansion and contraction with changes in humidity
- Does not require top nailing for a cleaner surface appearance
- European Oak strength and hardness makes it ideal for heavy traffic areas
- Can be installed direct stick, floating or secret nailed.
- Unlike most solid timber floors, it can be installed on virtually any flat surface – over concrete, tiles, or even existing timber floor boards
- Solid European Oak timber top wear layer
- Multi-layer plywood core substrate
- Industry preferred Tongue and Groove locking profile

finished in our pursuit of perfection

Plank Oak is finished with UV Oils by Woca to create a natural but durable finish to withstand traffic and everyday life. Woca UV oils penetrate the surface of the timber and also create a surface layer to protect the timber from within. Oil is imbedded into the surfaces of the timber pores to create a second line of defence to wear and tear.

european oak

European Oak is a beautiful addition to any home or commercial business space, it has a higher tannin content and less sapwood which enables it to absorb stains much more consistently. It also reacts very well when subjected to reactive stains, fuming and aging processes.

European Oak is favoured by architects and interior designers because of its natural colour, exquisite grain pattern and the versatility of finishing processes it allows.

australian hardwood

Plank pre-finished engineered hardwood flooring combines the traditional look and feel of solid timber but constructed with a quality multi-layer cross-ply base to increase stability. With the selection of two of Australia's most iconic species Blackbutt and Spotted Gum, the Plank hardwood range sets a new standard of quality and innovation.

Plank Hardwood range is constructed using a solid 3mm Australian hardwood wear layer in Blackbutt or Spotted Gum with multi ply sub-layers. This form of board construction delivers high performance structural, integrity and longevity due to the reduction in expansion and contraction.

Superior board stability allows for installation directly over concrete or timber sub floors as a floating structure due to the built-in acoustic foam underlay backing or direct stick with a standard board. Our hardwood range is designed with a click lock profile on all four sides to ensure seamless installation.

The hardwood series is finished in natural hardwood oils by WOCA™ of Denmark. The use of natural oils enables the timber to breathe, regulating humidity and aiding in the prevention of warping and cupping.

herringbone

A timeless classic, Herringbone floors have been prominent for centuries in prestigious buildings and historical locations Worldwide. This parquet flooring is cut in rectangles which are laid in a zigzag pattern. Herringbone looks best in homes with its points directed at a focal point or running to the direction of a room.

Featuring a 4mm solid Oak wear layer with multi ply sub-layers.

90 x 540 x 15/4mm

chevron

The distinctive look of chevron pattern is clean, smooth and angular; a striking visual design, the 45° angles creates rare moods and very impressive scenes. This parquet has always been a great classic, installed since centuries in prestigious buildings and historical locations Worldwide.

Featuring a 4mm solid Oak wear layer with multi ply sub-layers.

120 x 600 x 15/4mm

scattered parquetry

Our Scattered Parquetry brings the elegance of custom-crafted parquet floors into any space. The beauty and innovation of our parquet floors – designed and crafted by Plank – make any room uniquely refined.

Parquet flooring is different from the usual hardwood floor because instead of wooden slats laid side by side, parquet uses smaller pieces of wood arranged in decorative patterns; so you do not only get the inherent beauty of wood grain, you will also have a mosaic effect on your floor.

artisan collection

Our Artisan collection brings rustic sophistication to the Plank range with its dusky greys and warm cream accents on the unique band-sawn textured surface.
